Health & Safety Policy

J S Wright & Co Ltd are committed to the provision of a safe and healthy working environment and recognise that the assistance and support of all staff, clients, suppliers and sub-contractors is essential to achieve and improve on the requirements of the Health and Safety at Work Act 1974, associated legislation and relevant industry standards.

The management system also meets the requirements of various standards, including but not limited to:

- BS ISO 45001

To achieve this, we shall:

Strive to provide a safe and healthy working environment and, wherever possible, prevent injury and ill health for all employees, clients, contractors, suppliers and visitors to premises and sites controlled by J S Wright & Co Ltd by identifying and eliminating significant hazards by controlling their harmful effects.

Exercise control over all workplace risks; consult with all personnel regarding matters affecting their health, safety and welfare; provide and maintain safe plant, systems and equipment; provide competent employees and supervision; establish and maintain effective systems of safety training, instruction and communication.

All J S Wright & Co Ltd staff and sub-contractors are empowered to participate in the implementation of this Policy and the J S Wright & Co Ltd Senior Management Team will monitor progress in the continual improvement of the health and safety arrangements. The continued development of a positive attitude to safety within J S Wright & Co Ltd requires the involvement of all employees. The Senior Management Team therefore encourage a culture of open communication where employees and sub - contractors can raise safety concerns and that managers and supervisors are to ensure that they treat the concerns of employees seriously and respond accordingly. Raising genuine concerns, including reporting a hazard, or refusal to perform a task on the grounds that it is unsafe, or for which an employee does not consider themselves to be adequately equipped, will not result in any detrimental treatment of the employee. By maintaining this policy of open communication J S Wright & Co Ltd also seeks to prevent and eradicate all modern slavery and human trafficking activity, in line with the Modern Slavery Act 2015.

This overriding principle of risk management in the workplace will help determine the Company's business strategy in the future and will ensure the continued efficient operation of its current business.

We will actively encourage consultation and participation by all those affected by J S Wright & Co Ltd.'s activities. This will include full and effective consultation with employees on safety matters.

Whilst responsibility is clearly defined in the Health and Safety at Work Act 1974, Management of Health and Safety at Work Regulations and associated statutory instruments, it is the intention of the Company to exceed these requirements where this is reasonably achievable.

Ultimate responsibility for the safe operation of the Company's business rests with the Managing Director, supported by the Senior Management Team, all of whom recognise their legal obligation to ensure that this general Health and Safety Policy is implemented, followed and maintained.

This policy will be reviewed annually with the purpose of continually improving our health and safety management and any revisions will be brought to the attention of all employees.
